GAVE ENJOYABLE ENTERTAINMENT

Pupils of Parochial Schools Gave Appropriate Entertainment in Xavier Hall on Eve of Washington's Birthday.

Xavier Hall was on Tuesday evening the scene of a most delightful and appropriate patriotic entertainment given by the children of the parochial schools. The audience was very appreciative and the youthful players received liberal applause.

Patriotic songs marked the beginning and end of the program, large choruses singing "Tenting Tonight on the Old Camp Ground," "Mount Vernon" and "Star Spangled Banner," the last being the closing number on the program.

A pretty little play with music, "The Gypsy Picnic," entertained the audience for a half hour. It was marked by attractive stage pictures made possible by the pretty costumes and the artistic arrangement of the stage itself. A prologue, in which a number of young girls decide to have a picnic different from the ordinary, preceded the playlet. A gypsy picnic is determined upon and the play itself opens with all the boys and girls at the picnic in gypsy garb with a small fire burning.

While the picnicers take a mid-day rest one of their number disguises herself as a real gypsy, returns, tells fortunes and finally steals the youngest child. There is wild consternation until the "chief" is caught and her identity learned. Throughout the piece there are many catchy songs which were all well rendered and the parts of the play were excellently taken.

The second play portrayed the sufferings of Washington and his men at Valley Forge. Snow covers the ground, a small fire flickers at the side of one of the tents, all is sadness as the soldiers show and tell of their hunger and suffering when suddenly the name of Washington is called and he marches in with his guard with bugle sounding and drums beating. The spirit changes to one of rejoicing immediately and all show their willingness to suffer to the end.

The entertainment was most appropriate to the season and was given with the usual show of careful training which marks all of the work of the pupils of the parochial schools. Miss Marie King and Miss Mary Ramer were the pianists for the evening. Those who took part were:

MISS SUSAN FORNEY

Miss Susan Forney died at noon today at the Presbyterian Hospital, Philadelphia, from pneumonia after an illness of several weeks.

Miss Forney was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John S. Forney who resided north of town. One brother, D. J. Forney, and a sister, Mrs. Harry C. Pickering, of this place, survive.

Miss Forney's friends in Gettysburg and wherever she was known could be numbered by scores. Throughout her illness of the past few weeks their concern for her condition was a clear testimony of the high esteem in which she was held.

The funeral will be held here, announcement of the day and hour in tomorrow's Times.

BUYS GROCERY STORE

A. S. Mills, the Barlow merchant who will move to town about April first, has purchased the stock, good will and fixtures of the store of Frock and Stock on Baltimore Hill. He will take possession about May first. Mr. Mills and family will reside in the Sanders property on East Middle St.

TOLD OF PUBLISHING WORK

Rev. Virgil C. Fennell, Field Secretary of the Brethren Publishing House, Elgin, Illinois, delivered an interesting and instructive lecture at the Church of the Brethren Tuesday evening. The speaker has for several years been intimately associated with the publishing interests of the denomination, and in a very forceful and entertaining manner discussed "The Past, Present and Future of the Brethren Publishing Interests." He said:

"Until recently Robert Raikes was credited with having founded the Modern Sunday School Movement, although the Brethren were conducting Sunday Schools in the eastern counties of Pennsylvania at least forty years before the beginning of his first class at Gloucester, England."

"Furthermore, Christopher Sower, the first German printer in America, published Sunday School cards, etc., at least 25 years before the first Sunday School was organized outside the Brethren."

Speaking of present conditions he said "Today we have a $200,000 publishing plant, with an annual output of $600,000 in church and Sunday School supplies, books, etc. We have 100,000 stockholders and during the past 15 years declared an annual dividend of over $14,000."

CARLISLE APPROVES LOAN

The long educational campaign in behalf of a sewerage system for Carlisle ended Tuesday when the voters sanctioned the proposed increase of the bonded indebtedness in the sum of $99,000 for the construction of a system and disposal plant by a majority of 229.

Three years ago when the same question was before the people it was voted down almost three to one. The campaign that led up to the election was a spirited one and both friends and opponents of the proposition had workers at the polls.

The agitation on behalf of the loan was led by the Board of Trade and a special committee of the borough council.

LARGELY ATTENDED LECTURE

The illustrated lecture by Dr. L. A. Parsons on Tuesday evening in Brua Chapel on "Color Photography" drew a large audience. Dr. Parsons told in an interesting way of his studies and work along the line of his lecture and by pictures taken by himself showed the results of his work. It was the second lecture in the college course.

Miss Mary Linn, of Gettysburg, has returned home.

Ross King is visiting his parents at Hanover.

Monday was an unlucky day for the Western Maryland railroad, there being three wrecks between Hagers-town and Baltimore. The derricks from each end of the line were at work when the third occurred between Mc-Knightstown and Orrtanna making it necessary for the crew to bring their broken car to Orrtanna and place it on the switch as best they could, consequently tearing up and injuring the track along its way. At four o'clock there were four trains waiting here until the track was cleared. The mail train due here at 6.02 arrived at 10.30.

PAID $35 AND SAW HUSBAND MURDERED

Wife's Confession to Sister Heard in Court.

Plymouth, Mass., Feb. 22.—That she paid $35 to have her husband put out of the way and stood and saw him murdered, was the admission credited to Mrs. Lena Cusumano by her sister, when the latter testified at the trial of Mrs. Cusumano on the murder charge in the superior court.

The sister, Mrs. Accusa de Legat, of Boston, testified that Mrs. Cusumano visited her home a few days before the body of Frank Cusumano was found in the surf, at Sunset Beach, Hull, and in discussing his disappearance, said:

"My head told me to have him killed. I paid $35 and had him killed." "Are you sure he is dead? Aren't they fooling you?" the sister asked. The reply of Mrs. Cusumano, as given by the witness, was:

"I saw it done with my own eyes. They gave him one blow in the neck with the axe."

"Where is he buried?" the questioner persisted, according to her testimony.

"He isn't buried, but wrapped in a quilt tied with wire and thrown into the sea at 3 o'clock at night," Mrs. Cusumano said to have replied.

LORDS VETO BILL UP IN COMMONS

Is Measure on Which Government Appealed to People.

HISTORY IN THE MAKING

Historic Change in Great Britain's Constitution Will Come With Its Adoption.

London, Feb. 22.—Premier Asquith introduced in the house of commons the government bill to abolish the veto power of the house of lords. If it passes it will accomplish a historic change in the parliamentary system of Great Britain.

The greatest controversy known in England for several generations began with both sides apparently determined not to yield except to superior force. A full house faced Mr. Asquith when he rose to make the customary explanatory statement on the introduction of a measure of such moment. Tickets for seats in the public galleries had been exhausted weeks before and the diplomatic and peers balconies were thronged with interested ones.

The premier lost no time in letting the opposition know that he felt the country was behind him, and therefore did not hesitate to reintroduce the bill without a change of a word in the form in which it had its first reading last year. The measure, he said, had gone before the electorate at the recent elections and had been endorsed by the return of its supporters to the house of commons with a majority of 126.

Case of Political Suicide.

Mr. Asquith declared that when the lords rejected the budget of 1909 they committed political suicide. History would say that it was the most stupendous act of political blindness ever perpetrated. Hereditary in origin, irresponsible in the exercise of its powers and overwhelmingly partisan in its actual composition—that was the body to which the law entrusted the right to delay and check the considered decisions of elected representatives of the people.

The premier said he did not propose to dispense with a second chamber. They had already suffered enough from the evils of what was practically a single-chamber government; but the country required an immediate remedy for the present evil, and could not wait a release from the dangerous and intolerable situation until the long and laborious process necessary for the creation of a new second chamber had been completed.

Mr. Asquith was followed by A. J. Balfour. The leader of the opposition commented upon the absence of all evidence of a conciliatory spirit in the premier's speech. All were agreed, he said, that there should be a modification of the relation of the two houses, but the reconstruction of the house of lords should be the subject of cautious deliberation. The bicameral system must prevail, and the house of commons must be the predominant partner.

Mr. Balfour said he was convinced that some leaves of hereditary was necessary for the second chamber. He desired a peaceful arrangement, and he would do much so that a great struggle might be settled without controversial violence, which it was especially desirable to avoid in a coronation year; but there were some issues so great that no compromise was possible, and if fought out they must be carried over the heads of the Unionist party.

BULLETS FOR BLACK HANDER

Friends of Banker Threatened With Death Fire on Blackmailer.

West Chester, Pa., Feb. 22.—A man whose identity is unknown, who in a "Black Hand" letter threatened the Milton C. Pyle, cashier of the West Grove, Pa., National bank, was fired upon when he appeared to collect the money he had demanded, but he escaped unhurt.

Mr. Pyle received a letter demanding that he place an envelope containing $50 on the top step of his home in West Grove. Mr. Pyle's life and that of his little daughter was threatened if he failed to comply.

Mr. Pyle told some of his friends, who armed themselves and waited for the letter writer. Shortly after dark a muffled figure approached the house, snatched an empty envelope that had been placed on the step and then ran. The watchers fired a volley of shots after him, but he escaped. Detectives have been assigned to the case.

Would Revise Tariff at Extra Session.

Washington, Feb. 22.—If an extra session of congress is called Democrats of the house will start at once to revise several schedules of the Payne-Aldrich tariff act. An authoritative statement to this effect was made by Representative Underwood, of Alabama, who has been selected as chairman of the new committee on ways and means.

APPROVES INDIAN STATUE

House Agrees to Resolution For Figure in New York Harbor.

Washington, Feb. 22.—The Goulden resolution, providing for a heroic statue of the North American Indian on a federal reservation in New York harbor, was agreed to by the house. The Improved Order of Red Men had endorsed the bill.

The project, which involves no expense to the government, was started in 1909 in New York, at a meeting of army officers, Indian "warriors" and well known New Yorkers at the home of Rodman Wanamaker, of Philadelphia.

The cost of the statue, several hundred thousand dollars, will be borne partly by public subscription.

General supervision of the erection of the statue, as well as the selection of a design, is given to a commission to consist of the chairmen of the house and senate library committees, secretary of war, the secretary of the navy and Robert C. Ogden, of New York.

GIRL FREEZES TO DEATH IN FIELD

Exhausted, She Perished in Two Feet of Water.

Meadville, Pa., Feb. 22.—Her frozen hands still clinging to the ice, and the balance of her body still submerged, the body of Miss Bessie Margaret Price, nineteen years old, one of the leading young women of Cochranton, was found near her home, where she had miserably perished.

About 3 o'clock Monday Miss Pierce had started out for a walk, and her course led her about two miles up French creek to a point where the family had spent several weeks in camp last summer.

The girl had started to return to her home across fields that had recently been overflowed with water to a depth of from one to four feet, the water being left in pools which had frozen over. On the way she had taken a short cut through a plot of thin brush, and the trail showed that she had broken through the ice where the water was shallow several times.

There were signs of the struggle where the girl had stumbled and pulled herself up by some bush, until at last, exhausted, she broke through where the water was about two feet deep and there perished. The broken ice showed that Miss Pierce had made a brave fight. There were splashes of blood on the ice, and her frozen hands were cut and bruised and covered with blood.

Son Marries Father.

Malone, N. Y., Feb. 22.—A unique marriage ceremony was performed here when Rev. E. Scott Farley, pastor of the First Baptist church at Herkimer, officiated at the wedding of his father, Rev. E. J. Farley, pastor of the First Baptist church of Oneonta, to Miss Katherine Hawley, of this village. It is the first time in the matrimonial annals of northern New York that a son has been the officiating clergyman at the marriage of his own father.

Many Women Now Doing Without False Hair.

Rats and other false paraphernalia for the upbuilding of woman's thinned out hair may be necessary, but the sight is far from pleasing.

With care nature can supply to most women all the hair necessary for attractive dressing.

Many thousands of women, refined and educated, have learned that it is not hard to have, and to keep an abundance of lustrous hair, if Parisian Sage the hair grower is used daily.

Since its introduction into America, Parisian Sage has become a prime favorite with women who desire luxuriant hair that will not fall out or turn gray, used daily it will keep the scalp immaculately clean, will stop itching and falling hair, and remove every particle of dandruff.

It causes the hair to grow because it is able to penetrate into the roots, where it besides nourishing the hair, destroys the dandruff germs. The People's Drug Store and druggists everywhere guarantee Parisian Sage to do exactly as advertised, or money back. A large bottle only costs 50 cents, and it is a most invigorating and refreshing hair dressing. The girl with the Auburn hair is on every package.

Rheumatism in Ankles

One Bottle of Rheuma Cured Woman Who Could Not Walk.

Marvelous as this story may seem, it is absolutely true; but this is only one of the many almost magical cures the Rheuma is performing these days.

Mrs. Gertrude Kozel, of Smithfield, Pa., wrote on Feb. 14, 1910: "I had Rheumatism for over a year; it settled in my ankles and I could not walk. I have taken one bottle of Rheuma and do not have any more pain, and I can again walk at will."

People's Drug Store will sell any reader of the Gettysburg Times a bottle of Rheuma for 50 cents, and guarantees it to cure any case of any kind of Rheumatism or money back.

Gratifying relief comes in a day, because Rheuma acts at one time on the Kidneys, Stomach, Liver and Blood, and starts to rid the entire system of poisonous Life Acid at once.

ALIENATION SUIT SETTLED

Dr. McKim Is to Be Paid an Annuity.

A. G. VANDERBILT INVOLVED

Accused Father-in-Law and New York Millionaire of Alienating Affections of His Wife.

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 22.—It was learned here that Dr. Smith Hollins McKim will not institute proceedings for the alienation of the affections of his wife, who was recently granted a divorce. An agreement was signed in New York to this effect.

Those who were to have been defendants are Dr. McKim's father-in-law, Dr. Isaac E. Emerson, of Baltimore; his former wife, Dr. Emerson's daughter, and Alfred G. Vanderbilt. The agreement was the result of a conference held in the office of Hershfield & Wolf, lawyers.

Papers were signed at this conference which release Mr. Vanderbilt, Dr. Emerson, his daughter and Mrs. Frederick McCormick from any legal action resultant from Mrs. McKim divorcing her husband. Dr. McKim was awarded a sum of money which will be paid in semi-annual installments, as well as a lump sum which was awarded chiefly for counsel fees.

When questioned about the matter, Mr. Hershfield said: "I can say this much," he said, "that there has been consummated an arrangement by which Dr. McKim has agreed to end all existing and possible litigation relative to the alleged alienation of his wife's affections. That is all."

The agreement reached was the result of a series of conferences that have been held for some time. Reports have been made from time to time that Dr. McKim intended to bring suit against Mr. Vanderbilt for alleged alienation of his wife's affections, and there have also appeared reports that an engagement existed between Mrs. McKim and young Vanderbilt.

Mrs. McKim and Mrs. McCormick were great friends, and it is blotted that Captain Emerson may marry Mrs. McCormick when he secures his divorce.

It is understood that the sum involved will be paid semi-annually and will be so payable until Dr. McKim's death, with the proviso, of course, that no action of any kind is brought by him against any of those mentioned. It is further understood that should Dr. McKim die within five years a sum of money is to be paid to his sister, but that if he should live for that length of time and die thereafter, the payment of the annuity shall cease.

TO HONOR CARDINAL

Will Erect Gibbons Hall at Catholic University at Washington.

New York, Feb. 22.—A movement is to be projected by the American hierarchy of the Catholic church to erect a $200,000 building at the Catholic University at Washington to be known as the Cardinal Gibbons hall.

This gift to the university is to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of Cardinal Gibbons' ordination to the priesthood and his twenty-fifth year as a member of the Sacred College of Cardinals. The funds to meet the cost of this building will be collected in all of the Catholic dioceses in the United States.

Ground will be broken on June 30, which will be the cardinal's anniversary day. The building will be of gray stone, in Tudor Gothic architecture. It will have a frontage of nearly 200 feet on Michigan avenue and will extend along the west line of the university grounds. Gibbons hall will be used for dormitories and administration offices.

TWO BATTLESHIP PROGRAM

Naval Building Program of Administration Endorsed by House.

Washington, Feb. 22.—The entire navy building program for 1913 was approved by the house. It is as follows: Two 27,000-ton battleships, two fleet colliers, eight torpedo boat destroyers and four submarines.

The section of the naval appropriation bill providing for the construction of two big fighters in the coming fiscal year was passed by a vote of 139 to 114, after an amendment was offered by Representative Richmond Pearson Hobson to increase the number to three was lost by a vote of 161 to 9.

The two battleships are to be of the super-Dreadnought type, carrying twelve fourteen-inch guns.

BOSS COX INDICTED

Cincinnati Political Leader Is Charged With Perjury.

Cincinnati, O., Feb. 22.—George B. Cox, banker and so-called political boss of Hamilton county, was indicted by the Hamilton county grand jury on a charge of perjury.

The charge was made as a result of a comparison of a record of the 1906 grand jury with testimony given out by John A. Gibson, a former county treasurer.

Cox testified in 1906 that he had not received any portion of the gratuities which the state investigation commission discovered had been paid by various banks to at least three former county treasurers.

MINISTER VINDICATED BY CHURCH JURY

Woman Accused Him of Improper Conduct.

York, Pa., Feb. 22.—After a spicy trial before an ecclesiastical body of the central Pennsylvania conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, which lasted nine hours, Rev. Harry Daniels, pastor of the West Street M. E. church, this city, and chairman of the Anti-Saloon league, was acquitted of charges of alleged improper conduct, made by Mrs. Edward M. Schrom, a pretty young woman, formerly a probationer of his church.

Mrs. Schrom previously made an affidavit before a local alderman, charging her former pastor with attempting to induce her to come into his parlor for purposes unbecoming the Christian minister.

The woman alleges that Rev. Daniels, after she had entered the parsonage, pulled down the blinds and locked the door so that outsiders couldn't peer in. She threatened to make an outcry, which prevented him from attempting further liberties.

When these rumors became current upon the street, Rev. Daniels asked to be heard before a church council that he might vindicate himself against the charges. Rev. Dr. W. W. Evans, superintendent of the Harrisburg district, called a meeting and appointed an ecclesiastical jury to hear and try the case.

After hearing both sides, Rev. Daniels was found to be "not guilty" and that there were evidences of conspiracy, as he had proven a complete alibi as to the dates made in the charges upon which the offenses were alleged to have been committed.

SENATE TO VOTE ON LORIMER CASE

Beveridge Made Closing Argument Against Him.

SAYS CHARGES ARE PROVED

Declares There is More Proof of Guilt Than Frequently Happens in Cases Tried in Courts.

Washington, Feb. 22.—A vote will probably be taken today in the senate on the resolution calling for the vacating of the seat of Mr. Lorimer, of Illinois, in that body because of alleged bribery resulting in his election.

Just before Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, began a speech to close the argument against Mr. Lorimer's retention of his seat, Senator Burrows, chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, announced that he would ask for a vote today immediately after the conclusion of a speech that Senator Lorimer is to make in his own behalf.

Reply to Bailey.

In the main Mr. Beveridge's speech was a reply to the recent address of Senator Bailey and other members of the committee on privileges and elections. Mr. Beveridge attacked the validity of the Illinois senator's election. He contended that a sufficient number of members of the Illinois legislature had been tainted to render Mr. Lorimer's success the result of corruption and urged the adoption of his resolution vacating the seat.

The speaker appealed to senators to regard the case from the standpoint of judges and not to be influenced by their feelings or by the eloquence of other senators.

"It is the integrity of the election and not of the members that must determine our votes," said Mr. Beveridge, "and we must decide the question upon its merits."

As going to show the necessity of influencing elections in the senate, Mr. Beveridge declared that a senator exercises powers almost as wide as a monarch. "Therefore it is expected," he said, "that an election to a place in this body should be surrounded by every consideration attending the choosing of a president, a member of the house or a judge on the bench."

Taking up the testimony in the Lorimer case, Mr. Beveridge charged that the investigating committee had not followed the law in taking proof, in that it had not given sufficient consideration to circumstances corroborating the confessions of members of the Illinois legislature who confessed to bribery. Apparently, according to the committee, he said, no such confession was to be received unless made by a saint.

More Proof Than in Courts.

"There is more proof of guilt here of every kind required than frequently happens in any case tried in the courts," he said.

Referring to Senator Bailey's charge that the deposit slip showing the deposit of money by State Senator Holstlaw was a forgery, Mr. Beveridge argued that the question of forgery was not the material thing; there had been no doubt that the money had been placed in the bank and of that essential fact the slip could only be proof. There could have been no motive for forgery.

LEGISLATORS WANT A RAISE

$2000 Instead of $1500 Is "Wage Scale" Proposed in Bill.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 22.—Pennsylvania's legislators are underpaid; they don't receive within $500 of what their services are worth, according to the ideas of Representative Thomas Carter, of Pittsburg.

Mr. Carter said as much as this and started out to rectify things by introducing a bill to increase the compensation of representatives and senators. This bill would increase the pay of each member of either body from $1500 for each regular session to $2000.

It would leave the compensation for special sessions at $500, as at present, and also would make no change in the allowance of 20 cents a mile for traveling expenses for both regular and special sessions.

In addition to the change in salary, Mr. Carter's bill provides:

"That members of the general assembly shall be allowed and shall receive, in addition to the compensation and mileage within provided for, the sum of $25 for every regular and the sum of $10 for every extra session for stationery and also postage stamps to the value of $25 for each regular session and $10 for each extra session."

The present allowance for regular sessions is $50 for stationery and $100 in postage, while at special sessions there is a $10 allowance for stationery.

Langford Wins on Foul From Langford, Feb. 22.—Sam Langford, the American colored light heavyweight, won in hollow fashion from Bill Lang, the Australian heavyweight, in the sixth round of a scheduled twenty-round bout at Olympia. Langford slipped to the floor in the sixth round after missing a swing and Lang struck him with a stiff right before he regained his feet. The referee promptly stopped the bout and disqualified Lang.

Should not fail to examine our large line of FURNITURE and get prices before buying.

We have without question the largest stock in the county, and our prices must appeal at once to everyone. The only way we can convince you of this, is for you to go to other stores and learn prices, and then come and get our prices and compare. The many customers we have sold to thus far this Spring is good evidence of all this.

Let us convince you, as we have convinced others, that our prices are from 10 to 15 per cent lower than you will get elsewhere, and we will leave it to you if the goods are not better.

Now is the time to place your orders, as you have a good big stock to select from.

Will hold the goods until you want them

under the auspices of South Mountain Grange of Arendtsville, will be given by Ida Jenness Moulton, of Beverly, Mass., on Saturday evening, March 4, 1911.

Her varied programs are new to all, as they are largely her own. The original Monologues are very humorous, while the unique Musical Recitations give variety. The Dramatic Selections are her own arrangements. The young and old are alike charmed.

The chart will be placed at C. H. Klepper's Store, February 25th., where reserved tickets can be purchased at 25 cents each, General Admission 15 cents.

THE SPORTY WHITE ROCK.

In the chicken cyclopedia albinos are accidental offspring from pure black ancestry. Sports are solid colored birds from particolored parents.

A black and white cross is apt to throw an occasional pure black or pure white.

The sporty White Rock is a sport of the Barred Plymouth Rock.

This bon ton cracked the shell Centennial year, 1876, an appropriate year for such an American dandy to make its debut.

"Rocks, Rocks, Rocks," we get in reply to our question, "What breed do you keep?" till one imagines the earth is all Rocks.

Well, the fellow that has real White Rocks and treats them white ought to fill egg crocks and pile up rocks.

They surely are stayers, layers and payers, or that Indiana fancier would not have bred them twenty years. But the secret is here—his 6,000 Rocks bring him $35,000 per year.

Birds must gain if they're pure strains; a fellow strains his brain and works with might and main.

But this is a little talk with White Rock enthusiasts, a friendly word for the fellow that's just started.

Rocks, whether Barred, White, Buff, Silver Penciled, Partridge or Columbian, to be standard must have Rock shape and pure color.

Real White Rocks are pure white, surface, shafts, quills and all, except their red combs, faces and ear lobes, their yellow beaks, shanks, toes and skin and their full bright bay eyes.

See that head? Isn't he kingly? Let that head be your model for head points. We have never seen a better.

A real Rock rooster has a broad head of like style, with well proportioned graceful neck, abundant flowing hackle, broad and rather long back with slight concave sweep to tail, abundant saddle feathers and a medium sized well spread tail held at an angle of fifty degrees.

He has a medium fluff and wing, stout beak, broad well rounded breast, prominent straight keel, large thighs, stout clean shanks and toes.

Note the hen. She is standard and, like all the females, speaks for herself.

DON'TS.

Don't get nervous when you test your first eggs. Every time you break an egg under incubation make it a subject of investigation. You needn't go to college to get knowledge.

Don't dig a ditch for others, but live like brothers. Just think of Hauman on that gallows high on which he thought to hang good Mordecai. So perish many in a mean attempt to bring a brother to contempt.

The Georgette family are very widely known and possess musical talent scarcely surpassed and seldom equalled. They play many different instruments, which have never been seen here before.

The manager guarantees this attraction to be the best musical novelty company which has shown in his theatre.

He Was Vanquished at Last

By WILLIAM CHANDLER

"You have heard of the Admirable Crichton, I presume," said Philip Aguenaldiz of Havana.

No one knew anything about him.

"Crichton," explained Aguenaldiz, "was so accomplished that he was called Admirable. Just before the Spanish-American war he had a man in Havana who I think would have tied him, at least in a fight. He was a Virginian and had come down thinking that the times in Cuba were propitious for a display of his accomplishments.

Naturally the sympathy of all Americans was with the Cubans. Fitz Hugh—that was the Virginian's name—was outspoken in his advocacy of their cause and, being a citizen of the United States, was protected from arrest so long as he didn't commit any overt act against the government. He frequented public places, where he would meet Spanish officers, giving expression to his opinion of the butcheries of Captain General Weyler. Some Spaniard would take him to task for doing so, and there would be a challenge and a duel and one less officer of the Spanish army fit for duty.

Fitz Hugh went out into the country one day and stopped at a hacienda belonging to a young widow. She being a sympathizer with the Cuban cause and Fitz Hugh being of the same mind—he was a handsome dog—she entertained him royally. They were sitting at the table, just finishing an excellent dinner, when along came marching two companies of Spanish troops. There was a major in command, and he halted his men before the gate of the hacienda and, walking up to the house, called for Senora Vendez, the owner.

He was invited into the dining room, where he informed the lady that, she being an avowed revolutionist, he proposed to take her and put her in commandero, or some other spread out Spanish word, which meant she was to be penned up with other rebel Cubans. The widow, being defenseless, signified that she would go with him, when Fitz Hugh spoke up.

"Senior major," he said, "it is a very easy matter for you to commit this act of tyranny upon a woman with a battalion of men behind you, but neither you nor any man in your command could do it alone."

"What do you mean, senior?" "I mean that if you will give me an opportunity I will defend the lady against you singly, and after you against any and all your officers, and after that, against any and all your men, I will meet each adversary singly. If I put you all out of the fight the lady to remain where she is."

"Who are you, senior?" "Ah! An American citizen."

"Ah! An American. We are having much trouble with you Americans exciting these Cubans to rebellion."

"You have a chance to punish one of them. Surely I cannot be expected to vanquish every man in your command."

The major swore a blue streak about interference, threatening to take Fitz Hugh along with the widow, but at this Fitz Hugh smiled, saying that only a coward would decline such a proposition as he had made. The major was the son of one of the most prominent grandees of Spain, and his ideas of chivalry would not permit him to brook the taunts Fitz Hugh heaped upon him. He went out to his command and talked excitedly with his officers for awhile, then returned with every one of them—six in all—to the house. Rejoining Fitz Hugh and the widow, he told the former that his challenge was accepted. He would fight the American first, and if he were killed or disabled the ranking captain would take his place, and so on to the junior second lieutenant.

The widow forbade Fitz Hugh to enter upon so unequal a contest, but he only smiled that imperturbable smile of his and began to get ready for the fray. Taking off his coat and vest, he went outside with the officers. The major did the same, and they squared for an encounter with swords. Fitz Hugh called to the widow to come out on the veranda and witness the tournament, assuring her that there would be no blood spilled. On this assurance she acceded to his request.

The two men had not fought five minutes before it was evident that the American could have killed his adversary five times. Then he sent the major's sword flying in a circle in the air, and it came down fifty feet away, the point sticking in the ground. The senior captain was served the same way and the junior captain also. After that it was evident there was no need for any more officers to take a hand, but every one of them insisted on a trial, and all received the same treatment. Fitz Hugh vanquished every one of the seven men without giving or receiving a scratch.

Well, the major and every one of his officers took Fitz Hugh by the hand and swore he should have been a Spaniard in the days when Spanish gentlemen settled all their differences with the sword, as all gentlemen should settle them. Then they marched away, and Fitz Hugh told the widow he would like to go back to the table and finish a bottle of wine that had been half emptied.

But Fitz Hugh had met an enemy who was capable of vanquishing him. The widow was so infatuated with him that she wouldn't let him go. He married her and is running her hacienda today.

Calvin K. Moose, G. R. Thompson, auct.

P. A. T. Bowers, clerk.

An extensive hog raiser of whom we heard the other day attributes his freedom from loss by cholera to the practice he follows of removing well hogs from any pen or lot in which sick ones have been noticed rather than removing and isolating the ailing ones, a practice quite generally followed. The plan he has adopted seems to be based on sound principle for it means the removal of uninfected animals to entirely clean and wholesome surroundings, where there could not be any possibility of contamination from disease germs.

There is no doubt good profit in the poultry business if the same degree of brains and energy is devoted to it as would make success possible in other lines. Many novices launching into the business make the common mistake of taking it up on too large a scale at the start. They naturally argue that if ten hens will net $20 a year 100 hens will net $200 and 1,000 hens $2,000. More money than this has been made off 1,000 hens, but it was by men of long experience and wide information in the poultry business. If one wishes to go into chicken raising it is far better to work into it gradually, increasing the size of the flock as experience is gained. Such a course would likely avert not only disappointment, but serious loss.

If it were not for the small boy with ferret, trap and gun there would be many localities literally cursed and overrun with the rabbit pest. Like rats, they are prolific breeders, and no amount of extermination during any winter season seems to prevent multiplication of the pest the following season. Notwithstanding the fact that the young trees in the orchard may have been amply protected with this or that trunk covering, it is well to make a trip of inspection through the orchard every few days to see that everything is all right. Often snow will drift higher than the coverings, in which case the upper trunk and branches will be exposed to attack. The writer remembers just such an occurrence in his own orchard following a big storm when there were drifts six feet deep, which enabled the rabbits to go at will among the lower branches. Where such a condition exists about the only safeguard, aside from trapping and shooting, is putting out pieces of apples on the exposed surfaces of which powdered arsenic has been rubbed.

Just so long as the handlers and distributors of the products of the soil are able to so manipulate the situation as to get 65 cents out of every dollar's worth of produce raised, so long will there exist a most powerful influence toward the formation of co-operative enterprises which will cut cross lots to the consumer and leave the jobber and middleman out of the deal. Standing all the expense and risk involved in production, it is only fair that the producer should receive more than 35 per cent of the market value of the crop for his labors.
